Homozygous Familial Hypercholesterolemia (HoFH)

Does HoFH run in your family?

HoFH is the most severe form of familial hypercholesterolemia (FH). It leads to aggressive atherosclerosis (narrowing and blocking of the arteries). If left untreated, heart attack or sudden death can occur in childhood and adulthood. HoFH is a rare disease. It is estimated to affect as many as 1/300,000 people all over the world.
